

Sample Trainer Bio: English Language in the USA

The instructor is from the USA and holds a PhD training in Education with an emphasis in ESL.

The trainer lived for twenty years in Japan, became fluent in Japanese, and opened a language school. In this time, the instructor wrote and published a language textbook, which is still used in schools in Japan today.

Throughout a career that began in 1983, the instructor has taught thousands of students in English, as well as Japanese. These students have been adults and children, on a 1:1 basis, in small groups and in large groups (up to 40 students), from beginners to advanced levels. The instructor has taught English for various needs, including travel and business.

The trainer is a teacher who likes to get results from students, using various methodology depending on the student.

The trainer is a kind, lively individual and speaks English (mother tongue), Japanese (fluent) and Chinese (low-intermediate).